Neutra-Inspired Glass

Profile, a new collection of three-dimensional cast-glass textures from Joel Berman Glass Studios, is patterned after glass found in the 1934 Santa Monica Sten Frenke House designed by renowned architect Richard Neutra. Last year, JBGS was asked to recreate the original glass during a restoration of the house. The company devised a casting process that replicates the architect's exquisite design while meeting contemporary technical requirements. Profile features a selection of three cast-glass textures available in unlimited colors. Contact www.jbermanglass.com or Circle 274.
